WASHINGTON NATIONALS

SEVENTH HEAVEN

The Washington Nationals pushed their winning streak to a season-best seven games as they secured a series victory over the New York Mets with a 2-1 win at Citi Field. Former Met turned noted Met killer, 2B Daniel Murphy kicked things off with a first-inning grand slam, 1B Ryan Zimmerman added a two-run cushion with his sixth home run of the season, off the Mets' RHP Jacob deGrom. Murphy turned in a 8.0 strong innings of work...Murphy is now 34-348 (.386) with six doubles, eight home runs, 25 RBIs, six walks and 15 runs scored in 22 career games since playing for the Metropolitans.

• It was Washington's second consecutive sweep, and second sweep of the season, as they began their current 10-game winning streak.

• The Nationals' current seven-game winning streak is the longest of their season, and ties their season-high from a year ago (seven games, April 10-16, 2016). The 2015 Nationals won six straight from Aug. 21-26.

• Washington's streak continues on Monday night as the Nationals open a four-game set with the Colorado Rockies.

STARTING STRONG

National starting pitchers have turned in 11 consecutive quality starts further. Unfortunately, no starting staff in MLB has produced more outings in this season's starter as the starters have tossed 6.1 IP on Saturday, allowing just one earned run on two hits and striking out eight.
