THE FINAL COUNTDOWN: Winners of nine of their last 14 games covering the last two weeks in three different time zones, the Chicago Cubs have reached the final weekend of the regular season with an N.L. best 93-66 record and today welcome the St. Louis Cardinals to Wrigley Field to start a three-game series to wrap up this seven-day, seven-game homestand that began with a four-game series split with Pittsburgh.

© Jon Lester last night tossed six scoreless innings to secure his 18th win of the season, tied with Max Scherzer for the N.L. lead, and guide the Cubs to a 3-0 victory, their major league best 18th shutout of the season.

© The Cubs and Cardinals are concluding a regular season together for the first time since 2013 in St. Louis ... the clubs have not finished a regular season together at Wrigley Field in 27 years since 1991 ... the Cubs are finishing a season at home for the second year in a row, their first time ending a regular season at Wrigley in back-to-back years since a four-year run from 2001-04.

© The Cubs on Wednesday secured a fourth-consecutive trip to the playoffs for the first time in franchise history ... the Cubs once prior reached the postseason three years in a row from 1906-1908.

THIS IS ON THE RECORD: The Cubs last night also picked up their 93rd victory of the season, surpassing their win total from a year ago (92 wins) and reaching a season-high 27 games above .500 for the third time this season (also 89-62 and 91-64).

© The Cubs have gone 22-13 (.625) in the last month-plus starting August 22, the third-best record in the N.L. and fifth best in the majors in this span ... this run has come in the midst of a stretch of 40 games in 41 days to conclude the regular season, and the Cubs recently went 30 days in a row without an off day.

© The Cubs have reached 90 wins for the fourth season in a row, achieving that feat for the first time in more than 100 years since a nine-year run of 90 or more wins from 1904-1912 ... the Cubs are the only team in all of baseball to reach 90 wins in each of the last four seasons.

© The Cubs are guaranteed a winning record for a fourth season in a row for the first time since a six-year run from 1967-72.

START ME UP: Kyle Hendricks this afternoon will set a new career high with his 33rd start of the season, just the fourth Cubs pitcher to reach 33 starts in the last 10 seasons, joining Jake Arrieta (33 starts in 2015), Jeff Samardzija (33 starts in 2013) and Ryan Dempster (34 starts in both 2010 and 2011).

© Hendricks has gone 3-1 with a 1.67 ERA (6 ER/32.1 IP) in five starts in September, the fourth-lowest ERA of any qualifying N.L. pitcher behind only Cincinnati's Luis Castillo (3-1, 1.09), Pittsburgh's Jameson Taillon (3-0, 1.38) and teammate Jon Lester (4-1, 1.52), and ahead of New York's Jacob deGrom (2-1, 1.80).

HOME, SWEET HOME: The Cubs are 49-29 (.628) at Wrigley Field this year, the best home record in the National League and tied with Tampa Bay for the third-best winning percentage in the majors, trailing only Boston (56-22, .718) and the New York Yankees (53-28, .654).

© The Cubs are 23-13 against N.L. Central foes at home this season, a .639 winning percentage that exceeds their overall N.L. best home mark.

OUR BÁE: Javier Báez enters today's game with a career-best 111 RBI, six ahead of Milwaukee's Jesus Aguilar and Colorado's Nolan Arenado/Trevor Story (105 RBI each) ... Javy is only the third middle infielder in franchise history to reach 111 RBI, the first since Ernie Banks drove in 117 runs in 1960 ... Banks reached 111 RBI four times as a middle infielder, while Rogers Hornsby owns the club record for a middle infielder with 149 RBI in 1929.

© Báez looks to become the first Cub to be the N.L. RBI champ since Sammy Sosa had 160 RBI in 2001 ... Báez also leads the N.L. with 332 total bases, aiming to become the first Cub to do so since Derrek Lee's 393 total bases in 2005 ... additionally, Javy has 82 extra-base hits, one shy of the league lead (Trevor Story, 83) ... Derrek Lee is the last Cub to lead the N.L. with 99 extra-base hits in 2005.

© Báez has upped his season totals to 39 doubles, nine triples, 34 homers, 111 RBI and 21 stolen bases ... Báez is only the second player in major league history to reach those totals in a single season, joining Hank Aaron, who did so in 1961 with the Milwaukee Braves (39 2B, 10 3B, 34 HR, 120 RBI, 21 SB) ... somehow, that season only earned Aaron an eighth-place finish in N.L. MVP voting (though MVP Frank Robinson was pretty darn special that year).

PUTTIN' ON THE RIZ: Starting July 13, Anthony Rizzo ranks fourth in the majors with a .967 OPS, trailing only Christian Yelich (1.158), Los Angeles' Justin Turner (1.090) and Atlanta's Ronald Acuna (1.009) ... Rizzo ranks sixth in the majors with a .423 on-base percentage in this span and has turned in a .329 batting average (81-for-246), eighth-best in the majors ... Justin Turner leads with a .369 batting average during this span while teammate Ben Zobrist is sixth with a .332 batting average (66-for-199).

© Including another game-winning RBI September 23 at the White Sox, Rizzo is tied for the National League lead with 17 game-winning RBI this season (with Washington's Anthony Rendon) and looks to become the first Cub to lead the league in this category since Sammy Sosa tied for the league lead with 21 game-winning RBI in 2003.

WELL ABOVE AVERAGE: Ben Zobrist enters today's game ranked fourth in the National League with a .310 batting average this season, trailing only Milwaukee's Christian Yelich (.321), Cincinnati's Scooter Gennett (.313) and Milwaukee's Lorenzo Cain (.310, percentage points ahead) ... the Cubs haven't had a Top 5 finish in N.L. batting average since Derrek Lee won the 2005 batting title with a .335 average.

IS 404 WINS A LOT? IT SEEMS LIKE A LOT: Including the playoffs, skipper Joe Maddon has guided the Cubs to 404 wins since joining the club prior to the 2015 campaign ... the Cubs have 385 regular season wins, by far the most in all of baseball in that span and a Cubs franchise record for most wins in a manager's first four years with the club, and 19 playoff wins, with the Cubs making three-straight NLCS appearances and winning the 2016 World Series, the only team in all of baseball to make the "Final Four" each of the last three years.

© Under Maddon, the Cubs have posted a 187-101 record after the All-Star Break, 86 games above .500, and the team's .649 winning percentage is best in all of baseball by a very wide margin ... Cleveland is a distant second with a .607 mark (173-112) in that span, which would represent a 12.0-game deficit in the mythical standings ... the Cardinals are the next closest N.L. team with a 163-123 record, a whopping 23.0 games behind the Cubs in those same mythical standings.

THE MIGHTY PEN: The Cubs bullpen boasts a 3.35 ERA this season, the lowest bullpen ERA in the National League ... Milwaukee is next closest with at 3.52 ERA ... the Cubs pen has limited foes to a .658 OPS, also lowest in the National League, and their .342 opponents slugging percentage is by far the lowest in the majors, ahead of Houston's .354 team mark.

© The Cubs have had three pitchers throw exclusively in relief and post sub-2.00 ERAs since the All-Star Break: Jesse Chavez (1.25 ERA), Jorge De La Rosa (1.64) and Pedro Strop (1.77) ... in total, only nine N.L. relievers have posted sub-2.00 ERAs since the Break (minimum 20.0 IP, pitching exclusively in relief), and three, or 33 percent of them, have resided in the Cubs bullpen.

© The team's last six saves have been picked up by five different Cubs relievers dating to Sept. 6 (Chavez, Strop, Rosario, De La Rosa, Cishek and Chavez) ... the previous time the Cubs had five different relievers pick up five saves in a row was May 23-31, 1991 when Paul Assenmacher, Heathcliff Slocumb, Chuck McElroy, Dave Smith and Les Lancaster saved the day.
